

Interactive website composition plan / Lusa @soolibo _

soolibo12@gmail.com

Theme) A work that contains the beauty of genuine relationships that face a person's pure essence beyond prejudice.

Intention) While using this website, the audience is meant to question themselves: "Am I truly seeing someone beyond social prejudice in my relationships with others?"

Work description)

Think of each individual person as one large transparent water container.

The inside of the container is transparent, so everything inside can be seen. Inside are objects symbolizing the various elements that influenced that person while living (culture, religion, language, family, etc.). Between those objects, the container is filled with transparent water, and that water represents the person's pure essence, untouched by those social shells.

The act of the audience turning on the faucet and drinking the water is the act of truly seeing that person and forming a relationship without prejudice.

- Plastic bottle = one person, individual
- Objects inside the bottle = that person's social identity (religion, culture, background, etc.), important influences in their life
- Transparent water = that person's pure essence, unique identity

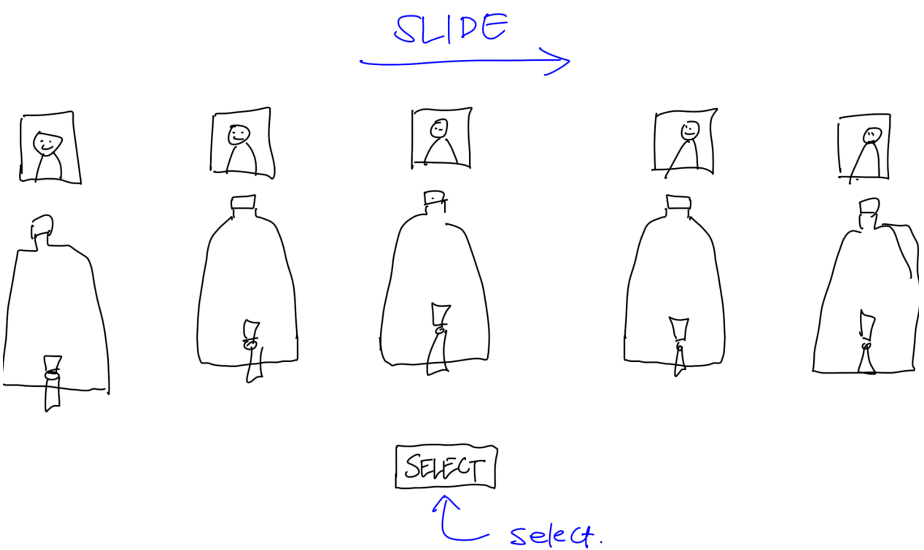

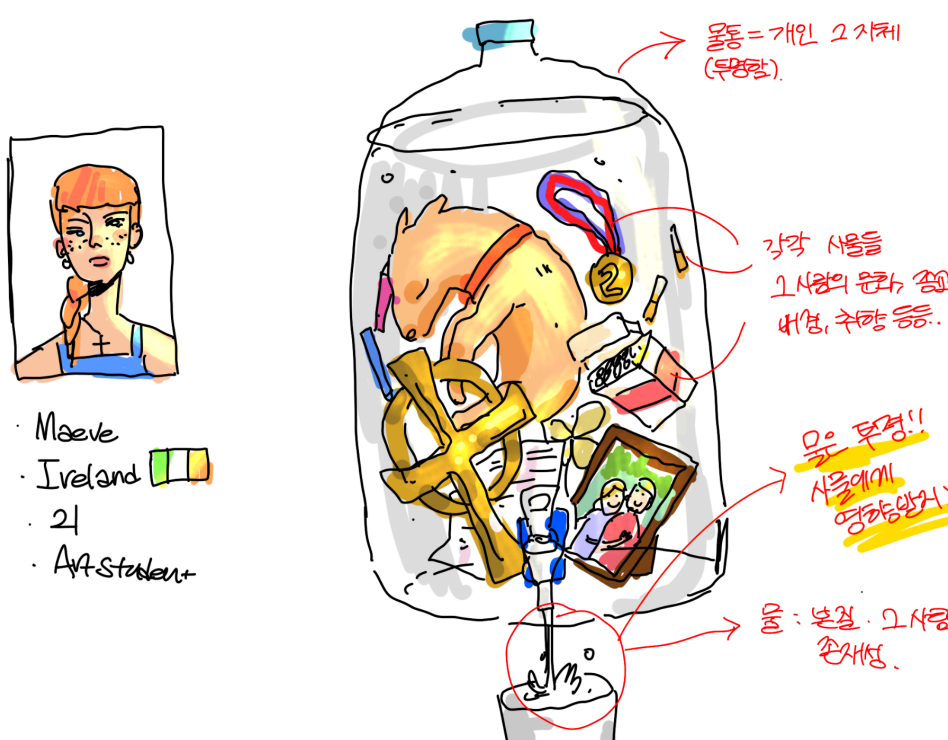

Main elements needed for the website

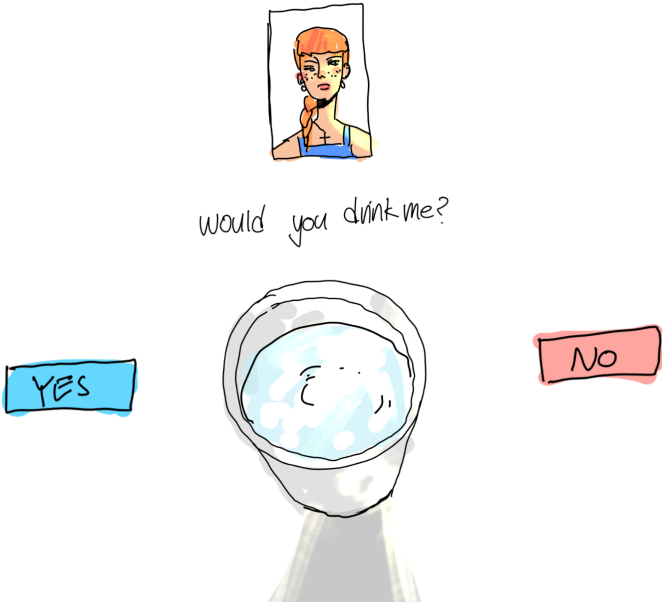

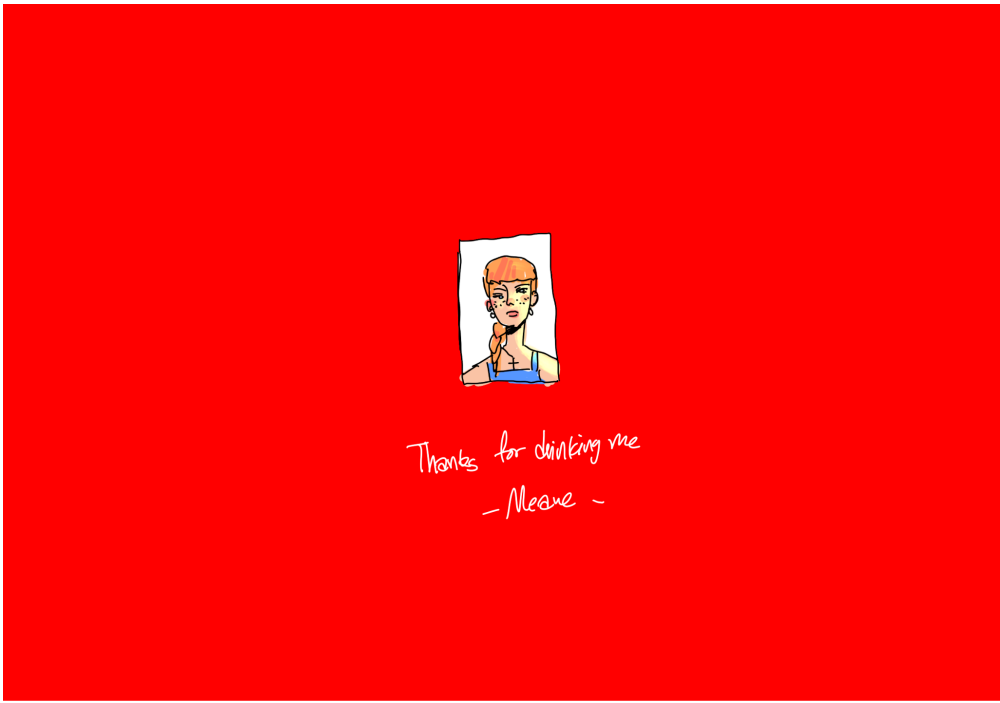

- A selection screen where various bottles can be chosen
- A motion where the audience chooses a bottle and drinks water from it
- Audio and screen transition that appear after drinking the water
- If the water is not drunk, the sequence returns to the selection screen

Website sketch (step by step)

STEP	SKETCH	DESCRIPTION
------	--------	-------------

1	 And then the screen slowly brighten ups to the next slide (step 2)	First screen. TITLE: Would you drink me? Interaction) Tap anywhere to start. Design) Black screen, white letters
2		After tapping on the screen, it slowly fades into the next screen.

3		Interaction) You can choose the water tank (description of actual person's being) in the options. SLIDING to choose what tank you want to interact with. Place the bottle on the middle of the screen to SELECT. Design) White background, Multiple water tanks with small ID pic on top, Select button CHOOSE ME written above
4		AFTER SELECTION Interaction) Viewer can see the descriptions of that person, and closer details of the products inside the water tank. You click on the tank's TAP to fill up the water → small water stream animation with audio Design) White background, Water tank, Id pic, Small descriptions, Water tank's tap Cup, Water stream

5		AFTER GETTING WATER Smoothly changes to this screen. Water in between YES or NO button. Interaction) Choose Yes → drinking sound / moves on to step 6 Choose No → goes back to step 3 Design) White background, ID pic, Water cup on top view, Yes / no button
6		AFTER CHOOSING YES, interaction) Smooth transition into that person's ID pic, with their voice audio saying 'thanks for drinking me' Design) Red background, Their ID pic, Thanks for drinking me (in their language) , Name — After, Tap on the screen goes back to step 3.

++ The designs of every water tanks, ID pic are going to be made with me, I am also thinking to collect actual individual's infos by making small google form that includes questions like your age, nationality, job etc / send me pictures of objects that actually describes you / your voice memo saying thanks for drinking me